Martin Luther King Recycling Panthers are Taking Recycling to the Next Level.... Are you?

MLK Recycling Panthers

Beverly Thompson, paraeducator, from Martin Luther King Middle School has taken recycling to the next level. Not only do her students do a great job of collecting the school's recycling material, but Ms. Thompson has the students weigh and graph out the increased weight of recyclable materials. In-house performance measures help reinforce the proactive approach of the team. The students enhance their math skills and create bar graphs demonstrating their progress for posting in the main hall. Keeping the school informed of their efforts increases awareness and participation. This outstanding effort models successful strategies used in creating a well-rounded educational environment and promotes a culture of conservation.

Consistently demonstrating initiative, leadership skills, and environmental stewardship, propels Martin Luther King Middle School's recycling team to excel. We thank everyone for staying active and involved.
