Leader: J. K. Rowling

by Ava

J. K Rowling was born on July 31 in Gloucestershire, England. She is famous for writing the Harry Potter books. She has not died.
J.K. Rowling showed a lot of effort because she had to write by hand because she couldn’t afford a typewriter. She had to travel to a lot of places train after train. She had to get several publishers from all over the world to look at her work. To see if they’re good enough to get published and they did and now people all over the world enjoy her books. (Alot!)
My Big Accomplishment

This is an awesome accomplishment. I had to practice and work hard to get the soccer moves right. I kept trying. I waited three months. I practiced. I tried to win games. My coach encouraged us to get in the double digits juggling a soccer ball. I was only at three. I kept trying and I finally made it to ten. Then we started to playing the boys. I could hear people yelling "Come on girls you can beat them!" We lost a lot of games. But our team kept trying. Then we got better because we were playing the boys and learned from them. Then we started beating them. We didn't win all the games. But most of them. Finally I made it on the team.

J.K Rowling's Big Accomplishment's

Was when she got her first books published. When she got married and had kids. She also is very famous oh did I mention she's the seventh richest person in the U.K. You know what's also cool she lives in a mansion that's even cooler then living in a house or even an apartment I bet she has a lot more accomplishments. Me and her have a good life

by Charlotte

Amelia Earhart was born on July 24, 1897 in Atchison, Kansas. She is famous for being the first woman pilot to fly across the Atlantic Ocean. She disappeared on July 2, 1937.
Amelia Earhart showed a lot of effort in her life. She got lots of different jobs to pay for flight lessons when she was out of college. A year or two later she flew across the Antarctic and Pacific Oceans alone. She also flew across the United States and back alone.
My Huge Accomplishment

One of my huge accomplishments is when I did my first communion. I had to memorize my reading while I would practice and learn about what I would do all at the same time. While I was walking down the aisle, I would either walk too fast or too slow. Then I got the hang of it. But, I also had to get used to the bad tasting cracker. And that was my HUGE accomplishment. Amelia Earhart and I both showed effort, motivation, and persistence but in the same and different ways. We both like going on adventures. She liked flying places, and I like to make scavandure hunts. We also work toward our goals. She wanted to fly so she got jobs to pay for flying lessons. I work toward my goals by riding a 2 weeler bike because I tryed until I got it.

My Big Accomplishment

An accomplishment I am proud of is when I was the player of the week at my sports camp. But, I didn't get it the first week or the second week. I had to try really hard to get it. Also, you can't just say you want it and get it. You have to play really good to get it. It sure is difficult.

Lou Gehrig had an incredible life. He showed effort, motivation, and persistence just like me.

My Differences Between Me And Helen Keller

Helen Keller did lots of things different than me but she did lots of stuff in common with me too. I'll tell you what they are right now, Helen Keller won a medal important to the country I only won a medal for a gymnastics competition, but we both won a medal and worked hard for won too. I got my artwork put up in a mall Helen learned to communicate with others, I cleaned the entire house non-stop in a day! All though Helen graduated college blind and deaf isn't that impressive? I was the only one in the class to make a poem of an animal while everyone else was did a non-fiction page about one. I volunteered to help teach pre-shcoolers when I had way more fun things to do. Helen helped kids when she was blind and deaf, but we both have things in common like... We both proved something to others when they said what were trying to do is impossible. We are also in common by

My Big Accomplishment

My big accomplishment is when I passed a level of soccer and went to the next. I showed persistence because I practice my moves every day and got them wrong, but I kept trying so that I could do them in my games. I showed effort by working as hard as I could when I could have been playing. I also showed effort because I never goofed off with my friends and worked my butt off. My motivation was, I really wanted to learn different, cool, new moves in the next level so I worked hard to get there. I think that was a big accomplishment for me. Dr. Seuss showed a lot of effort in his life. He wrote and drew 40 books without any free time. He got married twice and his own company. He wrote and drew college magazines and other magazines. He worked really hard and was very smart. He loved writing books for kids so everyone could read them. He also showed persistence in his life. Whenever he got a picture or sentence wrong, he kept trying to make it better. Whenever someone said no to his books, he kept trying to make it better. He also showed motivation because he wanted to let kids read fun and great books that they enjoyed. He also wanted every young level of reading to be able to read his books. We also had a lot in common. We both like to write and we both wrote books. We both worked hard and we both like kids. I think we both worked really really hard to accomplish something.

Jane Goodall showed lots of effort in her life. Just to follow chimpanzees, she did lots of things. She pushed her way through the really dense forest. She struggled her way up and down hills. She waded through streams. Also, she even climbed up trees! She didn't mind doing it.
Great Achievement

A great achievement in my life is riding a two wheeler, when my mom kept on asking me to. There are lot of reasons why I wanted to, like I could ride down the Capital Cressent Trail and see where my mom runs also, so, I could go to Bethesda with my dad, another reason why is, I could get icees there! The icee's are really great! I showed persistence by falling down and bumping into poles but that did not stop me. That's why I think it's a great achievement of me. Jane Goodall also showed effort, motivation, and persistence too! She saved the chimps and I learned how to ride a bike. The chimps didn't like Jane Goodall and I bumped into poles but, our parents both helped us!

In our childhood we both slept with stuffed animals! We still both accomplished our great goals.
